

Introducing the prefab you customize

Flygt's new Compit pump station gives you the best of both worlds: the customized flexibility of a concrete pit; plus the fast and easy installation of a prefab.

The secret is the extra-long shaft. It's over one metre long and can be adjusted – to the millimetre – to local conditions. This means you can install Compit at depths of anything between 1.9 to 3 metres. Add to this plug-and-play connectivity and you have a pump station that cuts the cost of installation more than ever.

Compit can be equipped with one or two pumps and can service one to several households.
